

Canberra Playback Theatre Company
presents

the boomerang effect

Have you ever felt torn between holding onto something and letting it go? Did you let it go? Did it come back? Stories of the boomerang effect remind us of chance, risk, negotiations of love and fear.

The boomerang effect is an opportunity for the audience to listen, remember and share stories of letting go and keeping faith.

Enrol now for our Introductory 1 day workshop
Sunday 29 August
Only $60 ($40 concession)

Friday 06 August 2010 - 7.30pm

Belconnen Community Theatre
26 Chandler St, Belconnen Community Centre
Entry fee: $15 ($10 concession)
Stay for a cuppa afterwards (finishes about 9.30)

Playback is an improvised form of community theatre. In playback theatre members of the audience share stories from their own lives, which actors and musicians then perform immediately, without rehearsal. The evening is led by a conductor, who assists tellers and performers through the process and who warms the audience up to sharing stories on the performance theme.

Enquiries: Rik 04283 64809

Read about playback at <http://www.canberraplayback.org/>